A CENSUS OF CAXTONS

PREFACE

It may be stated with confidence that, during the last twenty years, hardly an English bibliographer has opened William Blades's admirable 'Caxton' without regretting that a new edition has not been published. Blades's rehandling of his favourite theme, twice published, in 1877 and 1882, is distinctly disappointing. Not only did the author, in more than one instance, refuse to acknowledge the remarkable results of Henry Bradshaw's patient and accurate investigations, but also he was obliged, for want of space, to condense into an inadequate compendium the priceless census of copies.

With the possible exception of some 'Shakespeariana', no books are more highly cherished, more ardently coveted by the English and American bibliophile, than Caxton's. Since the eventful days of the Roxburghe sale nearly a century has elapsed; but whereas, in 1812, a thousand guineas was deemed a ridiculous price for the 'Recuyell', we have seen since 1880 no fewer than six Caxtons, if I am right in my reckoning, fetch over £1,800 in the auction-room, the highest price yet reached being the £2,225 paid by Mr. Pierpont Morgan for the Bedford 'Ryall Book'.

The history of Caxton collecting is therefore one of the most interesting branches of English bibliography, and it seems remarkable that no attempt has been made of late years to revise and bring up to date Blades's admirable census.

The present work was begun in the summer of 1905 at the instigation of Lord Amherst of Hackney, whose collection of Caxtons was one of the most remarkable existing in private hands in the United Kingdom. He lent me for several months his annotated copy of Blades, allowed me to make use of his important bibliographical library, and gave me a valuable collection of English auction catalogues collected by him from 1863 to 1905.

I then worked through 'Book Prices Current' from 1886 to 1906, and through Livingston's 'Auction Prices of Books', and thus obtained references to every Caxton sold in English and American auctions during the last twenty years. Mr. B. Quaritch's kindness in placing at my disposal his enormous collection of bibliographical slips, incorporating, as I believe, Lowndes's own collections, also supplied me with a number of valuable references to various sales and catalogues.

Other sources of information I have been able to make use of are Ames's own copy of his 'Typographical Antiquities' in the British Museum; Herbert's own copy of his revised edition in the same collection; Bradshaw's copy of Blades's 'William Caxton' at Cambridge; and, above all, Blades's own copy of his great book interleaved throughout, copiously annotated, and now preserved at Saint Bride Foundation Institute in Fleet Street.

Blades rarely mentions the bindings of the various copies and pays little attention to the presence or absence of the original blank leaves. I therefore felt obliged to examine as far as possible the Caxtons existing in the various English and foreign libraries, and have seen for myself over three hundred and fifty Caxtons at London, Cambridge, Oxford, Manchester, Glasgow, Chatsworth, Didlington Hall, Wilton, Paris, Chantilly, Ghent, and the Hague.

It would be no easy task for me to name here every person to whom I am indebted for information of various kinds. A number of owners of Caxtons have sent me descriptions of their books, among whom I may quote Lord Herries, Lord Peckover, Lord Beauchamp, Lord Carysfort, Mr. A. H. Huth, Mrs. Buxton, Mr. Fitzroy Fenwick, Mr. Boyd Thacher, Mr. Church, and the late Sir Thomas Brooke. The Earl of Pembroke has been kind enough to let me inspect the Caxtons preserved at Wilton. The Duke of Devonshire has allowed Mrs. Strong to show me the Chatsworth library. Lord Amherst's Caxtons have passed several times through my hands. A number of librarians have helped me to collate the volumes entrusted to their care:

Mr. Pollard and Mr. Esdaile at the British Museum, Mr. Peddie at the Blades library, Mr. Madan at Oxford, Mr. Jenkinson and Mr. Sayle at Cambridge, Mr. Guppy and Mr. Vines at the John Rylands library, Mr. Byvanck at the Hague, Mr. Vanderhaeghen at Ghent, Monsieur Macon at Chantilly, Mr. Ferguson at Glasgow, and many others.

Fellow workers in the bibliographical field have supplied me with a considerable amount of valuable information: Mr. W. Roberts has lent me a large collection of cuttings relating to Caxton; Mr. V. H. Palsits at Albany has sent me lists of Caxtons in America, and has obtained information for me from a number of librarians; Mr. A. G. E. Phillips has examined for me Lord Crawford's Caxtons, and Dr. Johann Joachim those at Göttingen; Messrs. Quaritch, Sotheran, and Tregaskis have made clear several obscure points in the history of various copies. I also owe much useful information to R. Ranshaw, Dr. G. C. Williamson, Professor A. H. Church, Mr. F. Haverfield, Mr. W. Jaggard, Mr. Strickland Gibson, Mr. Payne, Miss Edith Brinkmann, Dr. James H. Canfield, &c., and I must thank the editor of the Athenaeum who was kind enough to publish a letter announcing my census and asking for information. I am glad to say that I received quite a number of interesting answers to it.

Lastly, a special note of thanks is due to Mr. E. Gordon Duff, who has supervised the writing of this census from beginning to end, has continually supplied me with documents and references, has lent me his notes on the Pierpont Morgan Caxtons, has read through the proof-sheets of the census, and has practically dictated to me the portion relating to Caxton's 'Indulgences'. The proofs have also been revised throughout by Mr. Pollard, Mr. Jenkinson, Mr. Sayle, and Mr. Graves, who have supplied me with many valuable corrections to my description of copies at the British Museum, at Cambridge, and at Britwell.

The plan adopted in the following census is exceedingly simple; the hundred known works from Caxton's press are classified in the same order as in Mr. Gordon Duff's excellent book on Caxton, published by the Caxton Club at Chicago. First the Bruges books, then those from the Westminster press, each series being in alphabetical order.

After the Bruges books printed by Caxton himself, I have inserted the two or three Bruges books printed in Caxton's types, but probably not by Caxton, and, at the end of the whole list, I have added half a dozen early Wynkyn de Wordes, printed just after Caxton's death, with the master's types, and which have been so often reckoned as Caxton's that they could not be omitted from this census.

The paragraph relating to each book contains the following entries :—

A. The exact title of the book, as far as possible in Caxton's own words and spelling.

B. The collation (number of leaves ; blanks ; signatures), chiefly according to Mr. E. G. Duff's researches ; also the height and breadth in millimetres of a normal page of type, exclusive of headlines, signatures and catchwords, measured from the top of the tallest letter to the bottom of the longest one.

C. References to Blades's great work, to the 1882 abridgement (quoted as second edition), to Hain and Copinger, and to the three editions of Ames's 'Typographical Antiquities' (quoted as 'Ames', 'Ames-Herbert', and 'Ames-Dibdin').

D. The list of copies of which the present owner is known. In the case of private collectors a few of these copies may have changed hands of late years. I have not written to every owner of a Caxton to know if he still had it.

For each copy I have quoted :—

1. The 'early owners', chiefly from the notes on the fly-leaves.
2. The subsequent owners, with a direct reference to the sales and catalogues in which the book has been mentioned. I have endeavoured to quote everywhere the page and number in each catalogue. If the page is not stated, it may be taken for granted that I have not seen the catalogue myself.
3. The present owner.
4. The imperfections of the copy, the presence or absence of the original blanks being noted for nearly all the copies I have myself examined. All copies styled nearly perf. are those which want one or more blanks, but many copies styled perf. on Blades's authority, labour doubtless under the same slight disadvantage.

5. The binding.

6. The size of the copy in millimetres. I have measured myself over three hundred Caxtons, but for as many more I was obliged to convert inches into millimetres, an operation which always leaves a doubtful margin of two or three millimetres.

E. Then comes the long list of untraced copies, many of which are doubtless identical with copies mentioned under the heading D. Untraced copies are placed in the chronological order of their last appearance on the market or in private hands.

F. The paragraph closes with a list of fragments or single leaves, no attempt being made towards a full census. There are many stray Caxton leaves in various collections and quite a large number of members of the Chicago Caxton Club own a single leaf of the 'Canterbury Tales' apiece.

The index of Caxton owners (A 'public'; B 'private') which follows the census is a rehandling of Blades's list in a fuller and more elaborate form, the object being to condense under each name the previous (and subsequent) history of every Caxton in the collection. It will prove not only useful as a general test of the accuracy of my census, but also valuable as a contribution towards the history of book collecting in England.

I expect some criticism from several quarters for having omitted the prices paid at various dates for each copy. The inferences to be drawn from them for the identification of copies are seldom of value and have been carefully taken into account during the elaboration of my census. Old prices are mere curiosities and are easy to find in Blades, while modern auction prices are carefully tabulated in Livingston's great work and in 'Book Prices Current'. Booksellers' prices are apt to be somewhat fanciful, and many firms might object with some reason to a statement that a Caxton, for which they paid three hundred guineas, was offered without success in several catalogues for six hundred and then for five hundred pounds, and finally sold at a very slight premium over cost price. All that is trade gossip and has little to do with scientific bibliography.

I am fully aware of the numerous imperfections of my census. It labours under the primary disadvantage of having been written, in three years only, by a foreign member of the 'Bibliographical Society', residing in Paris, and hardly familiar with the intricate history of the London book trade. If, notwithstanding this disadvantage, it still proves of use, I shall owe it entirely to the unceasing assistance of the numerous English and American book lovers whose names I have quoted above.

I shall endeavour to keep my own copy of this census up to date and shall feel grateful for any additions or corrections any reader may kindly suggest.

 exhorthe & desyre euery mā that entendeth to the prouffyt & sal-uacyon of his soule / to ouer see this sayd booke / in which he shal fynde good & prouffitable doctryne by which he may the rather attayne to come to euerlastyng blyss & alwaye what that is wyron is vnder correctyon of lerned men / humbly he sechyng them to correcte & amende where as is ony faulte. & so doyng they shal doo a merytory dede. For as nyghe as god hath gyuen me comynge I haue folowed the coppe as nyghe as I can. & I beseeche almyghty god that this sayd werk may prouffyte the redars. & that is the special cause that it is made fore / that knoweth god to whome noo thyng is hyd / whiche gyue vs grace so to lyue vertuously in this short lyf. that after this lyf we may come to his euerlastyng blyss in heuen amē fayn wolde I satysfye euery man/ and so to doo toke an olde boke and rede therein/ and certaynly the englysshe was so ru

Type 1 only. Printed about 1475. Translation finished 31 March 1474 (1475?).

Blades, pp. 8-12, n. 2 (cf. p. 255) and second edition, pp. 173-178, n. 3; Hain, II, p. 95, n. 4902; Copinger, I, p. 153; Campbell, 'Annales,' first suppl., p. 13, n. 418A; Ames, pp. 5-6; Ames-Herbert, I, pp. 9-11; Ames-Dibdin, I, pp. 28-36, n. 4.

Copies known.

1. Early owners: John Wilson, Th. Wryothsley, Robart Boys. Then J. West's sale (March 1773, Cat. p. 131, n. 4090) to Nicol for King George III, then (1829) BRITISH MUSEUM (King's) IB. 49432 = C. 10. b. 23 (Proctor, p. 682, n. 9323). Perf. with both blanks, a 1 being at end of book, but every leaf mounted and some scribbled over. Red mor. with Royal arms (250 × 178 mm.).
2. Given to an unstated recipient in 1682 by Thomas Delves; then Sir Henry Mainwaring's sale (1837, Cat. n. 494) to J. Holford; now MAJOR HOLFORD'S coll. Perf., original binding (273 × 197 mm.). Possibly the copy in R. Smith's sale (infra, n. 12).
3. Bequeathed in 1681 by Dean Honeywood to the chapter of Lincoln cathedral who sold it in 1811 to Earl Spencer ('Bibl. Spenc.' IV, pp. 189-193, n. 838). Now Manchester, JOHN RYLANDS LIBRARY n. 15387. Nearly perf. (wanting both blanks) and in very fine condition. Russia, by C. Hering (276 × 196 mm.).

4. Sold by Granger to Thomas, Earl of Pembroke; now the EARL OF PEMBROKE'S coll. Nearly perf. (wanting both blanks) but on weak and stained paper. Margin of title-page mended. Old red English mor. (259 x 188 mm.).
 5. Early owner: H. Troughton. Lord Petre's sale (16 December 1886, Cat. p. 8, n. 66) to Quaritch for Lord Amherst of Hackney (de Ricci, Cat. p. 37, n. 113; sale cat. pp. 38-39, n. 181). Bought in December 1908 by J. PIERPONT MORGAN. Nearly perf. (wanting blanks). Stain erasing four words on f. 51. On thick paper. Old brown calf (257 x 185 mm.).
 6. The Marquess of Blandford's (White Knights) sale (June 1819, Cat. p. 42, n. 974) to Payne for Thomas Grenville; bequeathed by him (1846) to the BRITISH MUSEUM IB. 49433 = G. 10543. Imp. 4 ff. (3, 73, and both blanks) completed in facs., but fine and clean. Brown mor., lined blue mor. (282 x 208 mm.).
 7. Offered by Quaritch, Cat. 1874, pp. 510-511, n. 5246, and Cat., September 1875, n. 163. Sold through Allen to the LENOX LIBRARY, New York. Imp. 7 ff. Old russ. Very tall (283 x 203 mm.).
 8. Bishop Moore, then (1715) CAMBRIDGE AB. 10. 30. Imp. 5 ff. Old English stamped calf (269 x 197 mm.). (Sayle, p. 26, n. 118.)
 9. Bequeathed in 1750 by James Bowen of Shropshire to the BODLEIAN LIBRARY Auct. QQ. sup. 1. 2^B. Imp. 3 ff. (73 and both blanks). Formerly bound with 'Recuyell', but now separately in half red mor. (255 x 188 mm.).
 10. Roger Wilbraham, then the DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE'S coll. Imp. 4 ff. (a 1, 3, and 8, i 10) in facs. Slightly stained; a 2 inlaid. Red mor. by C. Lewis (255 x 184 mm.).
 11. Belonged about 1730 to Lord Chancellor Hardwicke; Lord Hardwicke's sale (29 June 1888, Cat. p. 14, n. 115) to Quaritch; his Cat. (1898); then Richard Bennett (Cat. p. 12, n. 161), now J. PIERPONT MORGAN'S coll. (Cat. III. pp. 110-111, n. 635). Imp. 6 ff. (1-2, 7, 8, 65, 74). Old calf (254 x 182 mm.).
- Present owner untraced.
12. R. Smith's sale (May 1682, Cat. p. 275, n. 92) to Ravenshaw. Probably the same copy as n. 2.
 13. Belonged about 1730 to Thomas Hearne (his MS. Cat. n. 1271). Imp. Edition uncertain.
 14. The Earl of Oxford's coll. ('Bibl. Harleiana' III, p. 267, n. 4048 and V, p. 85, n. 1762) then (1743) Osborne. The two numbers probably refer to the same copy. 'Well preserved, and finely bound and gilt.'
 15. Owned about 1749 by Joseph Ames.
 16. John Murray's sale (May 1749, Cat. p. 22, n. 689). Edition uncertain.
 17. Bishop Wynne's coll., then Rev. Edward Bankes, who owned it in 1863. Imp. 1 f. (2 [and probably also first blank?]). Slightly wormed.

18. Stanesby Alchorne's sale [not a Spencer duplicate] (May 1813, Cat. p. 18, n. 166) to Longman; J. B. Inglis's sale (June 1826, Cat. pp. 40-41, n. 597) to Lord Audley; his sale (1855, Cat. n. 610) to Bumstead for H. Cunliffe who owned it in 1863. Imp. 6 ff. (2 first [in MS.], 2 last [in MS.], 2 near the end, in the fourth tractate of the King). Washed (273 × 197 mm.). Doubtless the copy offered by Longman, Cat. 1817, n. 155.
19. Belonged and perhaps still belongs to F. Mercier, Lordship Lodge, Tottenham.

2. CORDIALE. Les quatre derrenieres choses aduenir. Folio. (74 ff., the first and last blank: a-d⁸ e¹⁰ f-i⁸. 31 lines. 189 × 126 mm.)

Type 2 only. Printed at Bruges, towards 1476, perhaps not by Caxton himself.

Blades, pp. 25-28, n. 6 and second edition, pp. 185-187, n. 6; Copinger, II, pp. 193-194, n. 1797; Campbell, 'Annales,' first suppl., p. 13, n. 423 A.

Copies known.

1. Early owner: Dr. Shorton. Now BRITISH MUSEUM IB. 49407, formerly C. 21. d. (2) (Proctor, p. 682, n. 9318), from the Old Royal Library. Imp. 1 f. (2, in facs.). Bound in dark blue mor. after the 'Meditacions' (273 × 197 mm.).
2. Early owners: the Celestines of Rouen. Belonged in August 1884 to B. Quaritch (Cat. 355, 1884, p. 2113, n. 21839; 'O. V. Miscell.' 10, p. 20, n. 16; General Cat. VI, 1887, pp. 3907-3909, n. 37900); then Richard Bennett (Cat. p. 15, n. 196), now J. PIERPONT MORGAN's coll. (Cat. III, p. 112, n. 636). Imp. 4 ff. (68 and 73 in facs., and both blanks) nearly uncut. Leaves much scribbled over, margins cut in places. Original MS. signatures and brown leather binding (295 × 217 mm.).

3. LE FEVRE, RAOUL. The Recuyell of the hystoryes of Troye (translated by Caxton from the French). Folio. (352 ff., the first a blank: a-o¹⁰ p⁸; aa-ii¹⁰ kk⁸ ll⁶; aaa-kkk¹⁰. 31 lines. 186 × 130 mm.)

Type 1 only. Printed at Bruges about 1475.

Caxton's translation was finished 19 September 1471.

Blades, pp. 3-7, n. 1 (cf. p. 260) and second edition, pp. 169-171, n. 1; Hain, II, p. 379, n. 7048; Copinger, I, p. 214; Campbell,

'Annales,' first suppl., p. 21, n. 1093 A; Ames, pp. 2-5; Ames-Herbert, I, pp. 5-9; Ames-Dibdin, I, pp. 16-28, n. 3.

Copies known.

1. Early owner: Thomas Fairfax, then Bryan Fairfax (Cat. 1756, p. 59, n. 2026), then Francis Child, then the Earl of Jersey; his sale (May 1885, Cat. p. 64, n. 967) to Quaritch for Lord Amherst of Hackney (de Ricci, Cat. p. 37, n. 112; sale cat. pp. 105-106, n. 542). Bought in December 1908 by J. PIERPONT MORGAN. Perf. with blank and in fine condition. Margin of two first leaves mended; last leaf but one mended; lower half of last leaf mended. Green mor. by C. Lewis (270 x 200 mm.).
2. The MARQUESS OF BATH's coll. Said to be perf. but wormed and mended.
3. The Earl of Oxford's coll. ('Bibl. Harleiana' III, pp. 193-194, n. 2783); then (1743) Osborne; then J. West's sale (March 1773, Cat. p. 209, n. 4090) to Payne for King George III, then (1829) BRITISH MUSEUM (King's) IB. 49431 = C. 11. c. 1. Made nearly perf. but wanting first blank. Brown mor. (276 x 199 mm.). This is doubtless the very fine copy in Thomas Rawlinson's sale (1726, Cat. VIII, p. 50).
4. Bishop Moore, then (1715) CAMBRIDGE AB. 10. 31. Imp. 16 ff. (I-13 and nineteenth of Bk. I, last of Bk. II, last of Bk. III). Old calf (274 x 202 mm.). (Sayle, p. 26, n. 117.)
5. Bishop Moore, then (1715) CAMBRIDGE AB. 4. 14. Imp. 10 ff. (I, 1-4, 32-33; II, last; III, 46 and last 2). Some ff. torn or scribbled. Stains. Old calf (275 x 200 mm.).
6. TRINITY COLLEGE, Cambridge. Imp. 11 ff. (7 ff. in I; III, 94-95 and last 2) (273 x 184 mm.).
7. Bequeathed in 1750 by James Bowen of Shropshire to the BODLEIAN LIBRARY Auct. QQ. sup. I. 2 A. Imp. 4½ ff. (I, 1-3 and part of 4; II, 104). F. 31 verso not printed. Some margins mended. A few MS. notes. Was bound before 'Game of chess I'. Old calf, rebaked (255 x 188 mm.).
8. Selden's coll., then (1659) BODLEIAN LIBRARY S. Seld. d. 1. Imp. 10 ff. (I, 1-4, 89-90; II, 17; III, 92, 99-100); wants outer margin of II, 89, lower margins of III, 89-90; also II, 104 is torn, but the text is complete. Old calf (252 x 184 mm.).
9. Early owner: Thomas Pike; then George Steevens's sale (May 1800, Cat. p. 70, n. 1150) to Payne; then (1812?) Earl Spencer; then J. Edwards's sale (April 1815, Cat. pp. 7-8, n. 164) to Longman; J. B. Inglis's sale (June 1826, Cat. p. 77, n. 1220) to Payne for the Paris BIBLIOTHÈQUE NATIONALE Rés. Y² 399 (formerly Y²+246 A=now Exp. 211). Imp. 52 ff. (Bk. I, 1-19; Bk. 19. Belonged in 1518 to Agnes Cole. Sold by Payne and Foss in 1833 to Beriah Botfield. Imp. 7 ff. (Bk. I, 12 and 21; Bk. II, 5 ff.), all in facs. (267 x 197 mm.).
20. According to Herbert Powell, 'A Catalogue of the Old Library of the Guildford Grammar School' (Guildford, 1900, in -4), p. 7, 'there is a very well-founded belief that the school originally possessed a Caxton, probably the History of Troy, but that it disappeared before the middle of this century.' Dr. G. C. Williamson (of Hampstead), who has kindly called my attention to the above mention of a Caxton, adds the following important remark: 'The statement is not quite correct, as the History of Troy was at the school when I was there as a very small boy and I saw it; but it was in very bad condition and kept in a cache under the boards of the study where rats had got at it. Have you ever heard of a copy with the fine Grammar School bookplate in it?'

Fragments.

4. Cambridge, MAGDALENE COLLEGE L. 5. 34. Imp. 47 ff. (all before d 3 and after H 7; e 5) (248 x 165 mm.).
5. Cambridge, PEPYSIAN LIBRARY. Imp. 1 f. (a 2). Clean, a few MS. notes (280 x 197 mm.).
6. John Ratcliffe's sale (March 1776, Cat. p. 51, n. 1021) to Herbert (I. Herbert's Cat. 1795, p. 98, n. 1532 and Cat. 1796, n. 709); then Earl Spencer ('Bibl. Spenc.' IV, pp. 292-309, n. 869); now Manchester, JOHN RYLANDS LIBRARY n. 8694. Imp. 29 ff. (a 1, 2, 3, 6; b 1; c 4, 5, 8; d 1-6; ii 6; G 3-4; all K and L). Old English red mor. (239 x 177 mm.).
7. John Brand's sale (May 1807, Cat. I, p. 112, n. 3058) to Richard Heber; his sale (December 1834, Cat. IV, pp. 115-116, n. 816) to Payne for the Earl of Ashburnham; his sale (June 1897, Cat. I, p. 112, n. 1045) to Pickering for Richard Bennett (Cat. p. 13, n. 170); now J. PIERPONT MORGAN'S coll. (Cat. III, pp. 174-176, n. 693). Imp. 26 ff. (a 1, 2, 4-7; b 2-3, 6-8; c 2-3; D 8; I 6, 8; K 1-3, 5-7; all L); this according to Blades (but 28 ff. 'Cat. Ashb.' because a 3 and 8 had been taken out); now 23 ff. (a 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, 8; b 4-5; c 2-3; I 1, 6, 8; K 1-3, 6-8; all L). Original leather covered oak boards (270 x 198 mm.).
8. Sir Robert Jacob Buxton, Shadwell Court, Norfolk; now MRS. MAUD BUXTON'S coll. Imp. (all before b 2; c 3; e 6; f 2; k 1; l 8; m 2; v. 4; ee 2-3; ii 2, 6; A 8; B 1; and others; and all after I 7).
9. The ROYAL SOCIETY, London. Imp. 28 ff. (all a; b 1-2, 7-8; aa 8; cc 1, 8; I 1, 8; all K and L). Very poor copy, modern binding (273 x 197 mm.).

Present owner untraced.

10. Wyndham King's sale (May 1890, Cat. n. 877) to Tregaskis. 20 ff. only; mor.
11. The Earl of Ashburnham's sale (May 1898, Cat. III, p. 122, n. 4062) to Leighton. Imp. 18 ff. (a 1-2; b 1; d 1; I 1 and 8; all K and L) with at least 1 f. from a shorter copy [but probably 10 ff. (a 3-8, b 2, aa 8, cc 1, 8) added]. Old calf, broken.

12. Early owners : Richard Rawlinson (1717) and 'Bateman bibliopola'. Was in 1863 in the French Protestant Church at St. Martin's-le-Grand, London ; then disappeared, probably stolen. Imp. 112 ff. (all before h 5 ; p 7 ; t 8 ; v 2 ; bb 2 ; dd 8 ; A 1 ; B 3-4 ; all after E 8), torn and dirty ; original binding (270 x 197 mm.). This may well be the third copy owned by Lord Ashburnham ; his sale (May 1898, Cat. III, p. 122, n. 4063) to Tregaskis. Stated to contain 242 ff. from d 1 to E 8 with several ff. uncut, therefore probably added to by the Earl of Ashburnham. (It seems now to want only 70 ff. ?)

13. The Earl of Ashburnham's sale (May 1898, Cat. III, p. 122, n. 4064) to Tregaskis. 120 ff. only between i 2 and C 5.

It is probable that many ff. were interchanged between Nos. 7, 11, 12, 13.

Spurious copy.

14*. The copy ascribed by Blades (p. 260) to the Marquess of Bath's coll. is, according to H. Bradshaw's notes, of Pynson's first edition.

Harleiana' III, p. 242, n. 3543); then (1743) Osborne; then James West's sale (March 1773, Cat. p. 130, n. 2280) to Nicol for King George III; then (1829) BRITISH MUSEUM (King's) IB. 55103 = C. 11. c. 10 (Proctor, p. 716, n. 9664). Nearly perf. (wanting the 3 blanks). Slightly stained. Old red mor. with Royal arms (279 x 187 mm.).
3. [Said to have belonged in 1774 to William Herbert; doubtless an error.] John Ratcliffe's sale (March 1776, Cat. p. 73, n. 1424) to W. Herbert (I. Herbert's Cat. 1795, p. 31, n. 413); then John Towneley's sale (June 1814, Cat. p. 20, n. 436) to Triphook, for the Marquess of Blandford; his (White Knights) sale (June 1819, Cat. p. 42, n. 972) to Triphook for G. Watson Taylor; his sale (March 1823, Cat. I, p. 25, n. 480) to Payne for Thomas Grenville; then (1846) BRITISH MUSEUM IB. 55104 = G. 11589. Imp. 4 ff. (p 1 in facs., and the 3 blanks) but fine. Was in mor.(?) or old russia but bound for Grenville in blue mor., lined blue mor. (281 x 200 mm.).
4. W. Herbert's coll. (I. Herbert's Cat. 1796, p. 3, n. 15); then Earl Spencer ('Bibl. Spenc.' IV, 319, n. 872); now Manchester, JOHN RYLANDS LIBRARY n. 12005. Imp. 10 ff., three being blanks (a 1; h 1; m 4, 5: all p), also part of a 2. Old red English mor. with the same tooling as the Spencer copy of 'Canterbury Tales II' (251 x 180 mm.). Wrongly stated by Dibdin to be West's copy. (But was perhaps n. 4 the Ratcliffe copy?)

Fragments.

5. BRITISH MUSEUM. 8 ff. only.

27. CHRISTINE OF PISAN. The Morale prouerbes, translated from the French by Earl Rivers. Folio. (4 ff. : a⁴. 28 lines. 190 x 127 mm.)

39. Belonged to William Blades; now ST. BRIDE FOUNDATION INSTITUTE. 4 ff. only (43-46) (265 x 190 mm.).

Several copies described as of Caxton's first edition have been wrongly ascribed to his press. For instance, the copy in Sir John St. Aubyn's sale (The Limes, Putney, 28 July 1856, n. 77), bought by Lilly (wanting first blank and last 4 ff.), was apparently a Wynkyn de Worde.

30. CHRONICLES OF ENGLAND. The Cronicles of England. Second edition. Folio. (182 ff., the first and ninth being blank: 8 ff., a-x⁸ y⁶. 40 lines. 190 x 121 mm.)

Type 4 only. Printed 8 October 1482.

Blades, pp. 120-122, n. 43 (cf. p. 257) and second edition, pp. 255-256, n. 45; Hain, II, p. 107, n. 5002; Copinger, I, pp. 156-157; Ames, p. 34; Ames-Herbert, I, p. 42; Ames-Dibdin, I, p. 152 note.

Copies known (all imperfect).

1. John Ratcliffe's sale (March 1776, Cat. p. 51, n. 1022) to Nicol for King George III; then (1829) BRITISH MUSEUM (King's) IB. 55063=C. 10.

- b. 4 (Proctor, p. 715, n. 9646). Wanted formerly 37 ff. (first 8 ff., a, b, c 4-5, g 8, m 7, r 8, x 7-8, y 1-6). In November 1846, 13 ff. were added to it (all b, c 4-5, g 8, m 7, r 8), and 5 others (a 2-6) in October 1857. It now wants 19 ff., 2 being blanks (first 8 ff., a 1, 7, 8, x 7-8, y 1-6). Brown mor. with arms (255 x 188 mm.). This is the only copy having the last leaf perfect.
 3. Early owner: Edward Lhwyd; now BODLEIAN LIBRARY Auct. QQ. sup. I. 12. Imp. 17 ff. (1-2, 7-8; a 1-3, 8; b 1; g 1; k 1; o 1; q 1-3; y 5-6). Stained and torn (260 x 172 mm.).
 4. Manchester, JOHN RYLANDS LIBRARY n. 17316, from Earl Spencer's coll. ('Bibl. Spenc.' IV, pp. 227-229, n. 845). Nearly perf., without first blank, having ninth blank, wanting only the 5 last lines of y 6 (colophon); in facs. by Harris. Bound in brown russia before 'Discription' (268 x 189 mm.).
The missing colophon is probably pasted in at the end of the Machlinia 'Chronicles' in the Marquess of Lothian's collection (Bradshaw's notes).
 5. Added to E. A. Crowninshield's sale (July 1860, Cat. pp. 36-37, n. 478) to Minton, then the Earl of Ashburnham; his sale (June 1897, Cat. Copies known.

1. Presented by Jacob Bryant to King George III; now Windsor, ROYAL LIBRARY. Perf. on coarse VELLUM and having an extra chapter on Negligences in the Mass (3 add. ff. and 1 blank).

2. Bishop Moore, then (1715) CAMBRIDGE AB. 10. 52 (3) (Sayle, I, p. 9, n. 35). Perf., slightly wormed. Formerly bound after 'Ryall Book' and 'Scala perfectionis'; now separately, in black mor. by Stoakley (257 x 186 mm.).
3. Stanesby Alchorne, then Earl Spencer ('Bibl. Spenc.' IV, pp. 280-284, n. 865); now Manchester, JOHN RYLANDS LIBRARY n. 11520. Perf. and fine with duplicates of L 3 and 6. Brown russia (262 x 193 mm.).
This is probably the copy bought by Alchorne at W. Fletewode's sale (December 1774, Cat. p. 70, n. 1256).
4. Spencer duplicate (n. 11520) placed in Stanesby Alchorne's sale (May 1813, Cat. p. 18, n. 170) to the DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE. Made perf. with 2 shorter ff. (K 3 and 8) from the Towneley copy. Slight stains. Russia, with Devonshire arms (255 x 185 mm.).
5. William Herbert's coll. (J. Herbert's Cat. I, 1796, p. 4, n. 28; also Cat. 1796, n. 745); his sale (November 1796, Cat. p. 14, n. 414) to R. Farmer; John Towneley's sale (June 1814, Cat. p. 25, n. 542) to the Duke of Devonshire, who took 2 ff. (K 3 and 8) from it to complete n. 4; Devonshire duplicate sale (May 1815, Cat. p. 10, n. 264) to C. Hutton; then Dawson Turner's sale (March 1853, Cat. p. 52, n. 777) (to Pasmore, i.e. bought in), and resold in his second sale (May 1859, Cat. p. 39, n. 529) to Thomas Bateman; his sale (May 1893, Cat. p. 38, n. 559) to Sotheran, then Richard Bennett's coll. (Cat. p. 12, n. 160); now J. PIERPONT MORGAN'S coll. (Cat. III, p. 178, n. 699). Imp. 6 ff. (A 1 and 3, F 4, K 3 and 8, L 3). Dirty and stained. Old russia (231 x 168 mm.). [Cf. n. 18.]
6. Obtained from a library at Colchester by Ellis (Cat., December 1869, n. 225) and sold to the Earl of Ashburnham; his sale (June 1897, Cat. I, p. 147, n. 1402) to Quaritch for the BRITISH MUSEUM IB. 55129 (Proctor, p. 717, n. 9676). Imp. 2 ff. (first and last, in facs. by Harris). Violet mor. (266 x 184 mm.).
7. Bishop Moore, then (1715) Cambridge AB. 10. 29 (4); then exchanged in 1870, through Ellis, with H. Huth (Cat. II, p. 437), now A. H. HUTH'S coll. Imp. 2 ff. (L 1 and 10). Slight stains. Formerly bound after 'Ryall Book', 'Book of good manners', and 'Dictes III' (272 x 193 mm.).
8. BODLEIAN LIBRARY Auct. QQ. sup. I. 5. Imp. 3 ff. (A 3, B 1 and 2), but fine and uncut. Old cardboard boards (278 x 198 mm.).
9. Bequeathed in 1834 by Francis Douce to the BODLEIAN LIBRARY Douce 148. Imp. 20 ff. (all K and L). Stained and mended. Scored russia (243 x 175 mm.).
This is perhaps the 'Politic Admonition and Observations fit for great Men to peruse, imperfect. Caxton' bought by Douce at G. Brander's sale (February 1790, Cat. p. 32, n. 1012) and which in the Ratcliffe sale (March 1776, Cat. p. 86, n. 1661) was sold to Brander with a 'Ryall Book' now at Providence.
10. John Ratcliffe's sale (March 1776, Cat. p. 73, n. 1426) to Shropshire; now EARL FITZWILLIAM'S coll. Imp. 1 f. (L 10). Slightly stained and torn. Mor. (251 x 178 mm.).

11. Early owner: Philippe Heyward; then T. Beale's coll., now belonging to B. QUARITCH. Imp. 9 ff. (A 2, A 8, C 3, C 6, K 1, L 1, L 8-10). A 1 inlaid, 3 other ff. slightly damaged. Otherwise very clean. Plain pink linen boards (237 x 175 mm.).
12. Whitley Beaumont's sale at Hodgson's (23 November 1906, Cat. n. 188) to QUARITCH, who still owns it. Imp. 39 ff. (53 leaves only, many being damaged). Formerly bound after 'Ryall Book' and 'Book of good manners' (original binding), but now taken out.
13. CHRISTIE-MILLER coll. at Britwell. Imp. 2 ff. (G 3 and last in collotype facs.). Original oak boards, covered with stamped leather.

Present owner untraced.

Presented (early seventeenth century) by Thomas Archer, parson of Houghton Conquest, to the Church library at St. John's, Bedford; then at St. Paul's, Bedford; then (about 1840) Bedford, Bedfordshire General Library. Sold at Sotheby's (17 March 1902, Cat. p. 111, n. 987) to Quaritch for J. PIERPONT

- MORGAN (Cat. III, pp. 177-178, n. 698). Nearly perf. (wanting both blanks) but slightly soiled and scribbled over. Original wooden boards and brown calf stamped with dragons and Tudor roses. Clasps gone (285 x 210 mm.).
2. Bishop Moore, then (1715) CAMBRIDGE AB. 10. 29. (1) (Sayle, I, p. 8, n. 30). Nearly perf. (wanting both blanks), slightly stained and wormed. Formerly bound before 'Book of good manners', 'Doctrinal' and 'Dictes' III. Now bound separately in green mor. (272 x 193 mm.).
 3. Bishop Moore, then (1715) Cambridge AB. 10. 52 (1); then exchanged in 1862 through Boone with H. Huth (Cat. IV, p. 1274); now A. H. HUTH'S coll. Nearly perf. (wanting both blanks); clean, but scribbled over. Formerly bound before 'Scala perfectionis' and 'Doctrinal' (257 x 186 mm.).
 4. Early owner: Andrew Corney; now CAMBRIDGE AB. 10. 59. Nearly perf. (wanting both blanks) and stained. Old calf (239 x 177 mm.).
 5. A tall and clean copy in russia, complete at the beginning but 'considerably imperfect', belonged in 1815 to Earl Spencer ('Bibl. Spenc.' IV, pp. 268*-270, n. 863). This copy was made perfect except for the blanks before 1822 and is now at Manchester, JOHN RYLANDS LIBRARY n. 17315. Nearly perf. (wanting blanks), last f. inlaid. Olive mor. (281 x 200 mm.).
 6. The Duke of Buccleuch's sale (March 1889, Cat. p. 44, n. 961) to Quaritch for the EARL OF CARYSFORT. Nearly perf. (wanting first blank), a 2 inlaid, a 3 mended (with a few words in facs.), small hole mended in c 3. Was in olive mor.; rebound in 1894 by Leighton (283 x 206 mm.).
 7. James West's sale (March 1773, Cat. p. 114, n. 1875) to Payne; then King George III; then (1829) BRITISH MUSEUM (King's) IB. 55117 = C. 10. b. 22 (Proctor, p. 716, n. 9671). Imp. 2 ff. (first blank and a 2, in facs. by Harris) fine. Old red mor. with Royal arms (245 x 173 mm.).
 8. ST. MARY OSCOTT COLLEGE.
 9. John Ratcliffe's sale (March 1776, Cat. p. 86, n. 1661) to Gustavus Brander; his sale (February 1790, Cat. p. 32, n. 1013); G. Burge's sale (July 1864, Cat. p. 45, n. 713) to Lilly. Stated then to contain 145 ff. and 1 f. of table. This is probably the copy described in Black and Armstrong's Cat. 1847, n. 937, as having 16 ff. in facs. (mor. by Clarke and Bedford), and probably also the copy in old red mor. with several ff. in facs. by Harris offered by Sotheran (Cat., May 1879, p. 11, n. 167). As E. G. Duff points out, this is again the copy sold in 1881 by Sotheran to John Carter Brown, now J. C. BROWN UNIVERSITY, Providence, U.S.A. Imp. 20 ff.
 10. Whitley Beaumont sale at Hodgson's (23 November 1906, Cat. n. 188) to QUARITCH, who still owns it. Imp. 61 ff., complete at end. Many margins cut away. Was then in original binding before 'Book of good manners' and 'Doctrinal'. Now taken out.

Present owner untraced.

11. Owned in 1749 by Sir Hans Sloane.
12. A. Littledale's sale (February 1820, Cat. p. 12, n. 306). Imp. Red mor.

BOOKS PRINTED AT PARIS FOR CAXTON

101. LEGENDA. Legenda secundum usum Sarum. Folio.

Collation unknown. (39 lines. 213 × 136 mm.)

Probably printed for William Caxton by the Paris printer Guillaume Maynyal, about the same date (1487) as the 'Missale'. Identified by E. Gordon Duff, who has kindly placed at my disposal the following list of fragments known to him; all are presumably from bindings.

Fragments known.

1. CAMBRIDGE, University library (Sayle, I, p. 29, n. 132). 27 leaves, being r 4, v 1 and 8, y 1-3 and 6-8, z 1, L 1-3 and 7-8, M 6, N 1 and 8, P 4-5, Q 2, 5 and 7, T 4-5, V 3-4.
2. CAMBRIDGE, University library, 2 leaves (L 1 and 8).
3. Paris, BIBLIOTHÈQUE NATIONALE Rés. B. 1353. Seven leaves (G 1, L 1-3 and 3 others, somewhat soiled) from the binding of a volume containing books printed in 1547-1548 by Grafton (288 × 193 mm.).
4. CORPUS CHRISTI COLLEGE, Cambridge. Two leaves.
5. CLARE COLLEGE, Cambridge. One leaf.
6. WESTMINSTER ABBEY. One leaf.

In 1496 the Churchwardens of St. Margaret's, Westminster, owned no less than fifteen copies of 'bokes called legendes of the bequest of William Caxton'. These books they sold at five or six shillings apiece; about 1502 they only had one copy left. Blades, who has published in full (I, p. 121; II, p. 263) the accounts referring to these copies, thought that they were of the third edition of the 'Golden Legend'; but E. G. Duff has shown to a certainty that they must have been copies of the lost 'Legenda Sarum'. Not once in the accounts are they called 'Golden legends' but always 'legende', 'a printed legende', 'a prynted legende book'.

The following is the order of the sales as tabulated by Blades—

- 1496. One copy to William Ryoll.
- 1497. One copy to William Ryoll.
- 1498. One copy to the Parish priest.
- 1498. One copy to John Crosse.
- 1498-1500. One copy sold in Westminster hall.
- 1498-1500. Five copies to W. Geyffe.
- 1498-1500. One copy to Walter Marten.
- 1498-1500. One copy to Daniell Aforge.

102. MISSALE. Missale ad usum Sarum. In-fol. (266 ff., the first and eleventh blanks (?): 10 ff. no sig., a¹⁰ b-z⁸ &⁸; 9⁸; A-F⁸ G⁸).

Printed for William Caxton the 4th December 1487 by the Paris printer Guillaume Maynyal.

Blades, second edition, pp. 366-368, n. 103; Weale, 'Bibl. lit.,' p. 178; Copinger, II, p. 420, n. 4226.

Copy known.

1. Belongs since the sixteenth century to the Legh family at Newton. Now in LORD NEWTON'S coll. at Lime Park, Disley, Cheshire. (Cf. 'The Athenaeum' 21 March 1874.) Imp. 23 ff. Contains in a sixteenth-century hand two MS. references in contemptuous terms to one Richard Mody, who was rector of Standish near Wigan during the reign of Queen Mary I ('The Athenaeum' 25 July 1896, p. 129).

Present owner untraced.

2. A copy was presented by Caxton himself to the Confessor's shrine at Westminster (E. J. L. Scott, 'The Athenaeum,' 13 June 1896).

APPENDIX

The following lists of Caxtons are taken from Blades's notes; they were, however, too uncertain to be incorporated in the census of copies.

Gerald Earl of Kildare owned in the seventeenth year of King Henry VIII the following books, most of them presumably Caxtons:—

Le catir choses	Charlamagne
Arthur	Troillus
Policronycon	Caton
Chroniclis of Englonde	De senectute et de āicisia
Christine de Pise	The sege of Rhodes
The destruccion of Troy	The birth of Criste
The sege of Jerusalem	Saint Kateryns lif.
Enaydos

The King of Scotland owned in 1578:—

The werkes of Allane Charter	Vita Christi
Legend Aurie	Play of the ches
The distruction of Troy	Boece
The Epistles of Ovid in frenche meter	Historie of Jasone
Vigetiū de re militari.

Another Caxton might perhaps be added to my lists if the following account of a 'set-off' on some printer's waste of the 'Fifteen Oes' at Bristol is correct; it is taken from Henry Bradshaw's 'Collected Papers', p. 346:—
'The inner side of the Bristol fragment is, however, still more interesting; as it gives us a "set-off" of two quarto 22-line pages in the type of the "Book of good manners" [i. e. type 5] and enclosed between wood-cut borders. It is much blurred, and I have not yet been able to make out many words, even with the aid of a looking-glass and a strong magnifying glass . . . I can only say at present that no book in this type and with wood-cut borders has come to light as yet.'

A 'Golden legend' belonging to Mrs. Ulrica Dahlgreen Price (U.S.A.) has not been quoted in the census, as I do not know if it is first or third edition.

A LIST OF CAXTON'S BOOKS CLASSIFIED BY TYPES AND IN THE CHRONOLOGICAL ORDER FOR EACH TYPE

* The numbers used by Blades have been followed, but, with Proctor (p. 714), I have called the type found in the 1489 Indulgence 'Type 7', and Blades's Type 7 'Type 8'. Thomas Hearne's sale (1695-1735).

[London, Osborne, 16 February 1735-1736 and following days.]

Dictes I or II or III (p. 23, n. 1001).

A curious catalogue of Hearne's library has been published (partly) by Beriah Botfield: 'Bibliotheca Hearneiana. Excerpts from the catalogue of the library of Thomas Hearne, A.M.' (London 1848, in-8). In it are mentioned:

Cronicles I or II (p. 34).

Godfrey (p. 24): cf. infra.

The MS. of this catalogue belonged to Beriah Botfield. From it R. E. Graves noted in 1865 the following Caxtons, showing that Botfield's account of the library is by no means complete: [I hear from E. G. Duff that the original MS. was presented in 1907 to the Bodleian by G. Dunn.]

Gower (n. 379).
Golden legend III (n. 659): cf. infra.
Godfrey (n. 974): cf. infra.
Cronicles I or II.
Game of chess (n. 1271).

The following from Hearne's collection, but not in his sale, are still in existence:

Recuyell, 2 ff.: given by Bagford, now Bodleian.
Godfrey: then Herbert, Gifford, now Bristol; Thurner's copy.
Pylgremage, 1 f.: now Bodleian.
Eneydos, 2 ff.: now Bodleian.
Lyf of saynt Wenefryde, 1 f.: given by Bagford, now Bodleian.
Golden legend III: given by Bagford, now Bodleian.

Richard Heber's sale.

[London, Sotheby and Son, 1834-1837, 13 sales. There were Caxtons in parts I (10 April 1834 and following days), IV (8 December 1834 and following days), and IX (11 April 1836 and following days).]

Canterbury tales I (IV, p. 115, n. 815): to Pickering for Bright, then Ashburnham, Bennett, now Pierpont Morgan.

Canterbury tales II (IV, pp. 115-116, n. 816): to Payne for Lord Ashburnham, then Bennett, now Pierpont Morgan; J. Brand's copy.

Fayttes (IV, p. 161, n. 1230): to Smith for Pigott, then Rodd, Pickering, Harward, Solar, Seillière, now Bibl. nationale; from a sale in 1821.

Fayttes (IX, p. 37, n. 684): to Payne and Foss; the Inglis copy.

Dictes I (I, p. 120, n. 2328): to Bohn(?), then Bliss, Corser, Craufurd, Amherst; the MacCarthy-Broadley copy.

Pylgremage: the Herbert copy; given by

Heber to Spencer and rebought at a Spencer sale; then:

Pylgremage, same copy (IV, p. 320, n. 2686): to Payne, for Miller, now Christie-Miller.

Heber also owned the Brand copy of Statutes.

Robert Hedrington (1577).

Speculum vite Cristi } mentioned only by Blades
Caton } II, p. 263. Doubtful.

Gower: then Moore, now Cambridge.

Eneydos: then Spencer, Douce, now Bodleian.

Golden legend I: then Spencer, now Rylands.

Golden legend I: then Botfield.

Lyf of saynt Katherin: now Winchester College.

All the volumes from this library are recognizable by the curious printed stamp: 'Robert Hedrington, his Bookes, 1577.' But as this stamp occurs more than once in the volumes, and as the Rylands and Botfield Golden legend are doubtless made up, it is improbable that Hedrington really owned two copies of the book.

Blades wrongly ascribed to Hedrington the Cambridge copy of 'Knyght of the toure'.

Francis Hepplewhite's sale.

[Paris, Tross, 29 November 1861 and following days.]

Four sermons II (p. 4, n. 39): then Culemann, Addington, Amherst., now Pierpont Morgan.

William Herbert.

Owned according to various authorities the following Caxtons:

Statutes, 2 ff.: then Dibdin; the Ames copy.

Golden legend I-II: then Ratcliffe, King George III, now Br. Mus.

Lyf of saynt Katherin.

A certain number of books from his library are offered by his son Isaac Herbert in 'A catalogue of books in various languages...' (London 1795, in-12).

Golden legend III (p. 28, n. 378).

Chastysing (p. 28, n. 380).

Troilus (p. 31, n. 413).

Gower (p. 31, n. 402): Tutet's copy.

Lyf of our lady (p. 31, n. 408): from West's sale; then anon., Tite, Sandars, now Cambridge.

Canterbury tales I (p. 97, n. 1531): the Baker-Bagford-Harley-Ames-Thompson copy.

Canterbury tales II (p. 98, n. 1532): then Spencer, now Rylands; the Ratcliffe copy.

Others are offered in a catalogue dated 1796 which I have not seen.

Canterbury tales II (n. 709): to Spencer, now Rylands; the Ratcliffe copy.

Doctrinal (n. 745): to Farmer, then Towneley, Devonshire, Turner, Bateman, Bennett, now Pierpont Morgan.

Godfrey (n. 705): then Spencer, now Rylands.

Festial I (n. 744) } to Farmer, then Spencer,
Four sermons I } now Rylands; the Ratcliffe-
(n. 744) } Edwards copy.

Golden legend III (n. 686).

Others in another catalogue, also dated 1796: Isaac Herbert, 'A catalogue of books ancient and modern in various languages . . .' Part I (London 1796, in-12).

Troilus (p. 3, n. 15).

Doctrinal (p. 4, n. 28): [cf. the 1798 sale].
